This module enables you to build upon the technical, practical, exploration and experimentation from the previous module and apply further rigorous analysis to speculative practical and contextual enquiry and research. The intention is to enable students to further extend their individual programme of study within a rigorous, analytical and critical framework, and deepen their knowledge and understanding of the practical and theoretical contexts which they have researched in the previous module. Students are encouraged to expand their contextual and practical research, but also engage with it in greater depth, and to consider their practice as it relates to external contexts and opportunities. There is a greater emphasis on developing skills to enable the management of a practice and the ability to resolve work towards a point of engagement with an audience and discussion of modes of presentation. Students will complete an Individual Statement of Intent outlining an agreed programme of research for the module.
