Module Summary Information

1	Module Title	Exploring Contemporary Perspectives
2	Module Credits	20
3	Module Level	6
4	Module Code	EDU6252

5	Module Overview
In line with the philosophy and aims of the programme, this module will respond to contemporary perspectives and issues affecting children, young people, families and communities. A strong commitment to inclusive values will be reinforced and will empower you to address issues of equality, disadvantage, diversity and social justice to optimise the life chances of children, young people and their families. In line with the learning, teaching and assessment strategy, the module will be interactive, engaging and challenging; designed to promote your independence and confidence to enable you to be an advocate for children, young people and families and an agent for change. The module is highly responsive to changes and developments, and will provide you with an in depth understanding of how issues may impact your work in your chosen field. As final year students we will support you in contributing to the content of the module through following your ideas, interests and drawing upon your networks, and ours, to plan a programme of interactive lectures and discussions that meet your learning needs, areas of interest and expertise. In this way the learning will be centred on you, with tutors being facilitators of your learning. High levels of engagement and responsibility will be required. To summarise you will explore the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What current issues interest you? • What issues are currently affecting children, young people, families and communities? • How do these issues influence the ways in which children, young people, families and communities are viewed? • How might these perspectives impact upon your developing attitudes, values and beliefs, your own philosophy and your future career?
